Mr. Leedy graduated from Bowling Green Business School, arrived in Hazard in 1936 where he worked as an accountant until his death. Throughout these many years, he worked for many people in the coal business. He has a tremendous work ethic and was quite an inspiration to all who were around him. Thanks to his friends, who in later years, made sure he was able to attend meetings of the Hazard Lions Club and other activities. It meant so much to him. He loved his home and yard, gaining great satisfaction from his labors. He has such a great love and knowledge for landscaping and his flowers, which he fortunately passed on to his children and daughter-in-law. Family was so important to Mr. Leedy. He took great pride in planning the "Family Trips" each summer. His love of travel continued through his 90th year. He always wanted to go and see all that was possible. We, as his children and spouses, grandchildren and great grandchildren, wish to thank him and remember him as a kind, living man who instilled in us a great work ethic and a passion to do what's right in life. We will miss him terribly. Visitation was held Tuesday, July 22 at Maggard's Mountain View Chapel. The funeral service will be conducted at 11 a.m. Wednesday (today) at the chapel with Rev. Notes for Joseph Steven Sammons:

The oldest son of John and Sarah Sammons was named Joseph Steven, after a cousin of grandma's named Joseph Steven Umbarger. Bert said grandma had nearly married him at one time. Joe, as he was always called was a farmer all of his life. Generous to a fault, endowed with a good sense of humor, he spent much of his life in Ottertail Co., Mminnesota. It was here he met and married Laura C. Whitman. For a time they also lived in Erhard, Minnesota. Some of their fourteen (14) children were born in each state.

In 1898, Joe and five other young men left on what he called "the last great adventure of modern times". Without any modern conveniences as radio, snowmobiles, etc., they set out- for the, Klondike.. Gold fever was in their blood. They "packed" over Chilikoot pass and crossed Lake Bennet. At Whitehorse they engaged passage on a large barge going down river (the Yukon). They tied a rowboat they had purchased for $35.00, to the barge. On the way an ice jam clogged the river making it into a huge lake. Realizing the danger, all aboard attempted to lighten the raft to enable getting to the shore. Nearly bringing the barge owner to tears, was the throwing overboard of hay he had purchased at 40¢ per pound. Many other valuables also were tossed into the icy water. They did reach shore and tied up the barge for the night. On awakening next morning they found the ice jam had broken and they were now eighty rods from the shoreline!

On foot now, they made the rest of their way to Dawson. Here they did not have enough money between them to outfit a hunt for gold, so they took jobs working for the unheard of pay of a dollar an hour. In the States at this time, good pay was a dollar a day. The outfit they worked for had a claim immediately below the Discovery Claim. Canadian mining claims ran fifteen hundred feet along a creek and extended from the center of the stream to the center of the ridge on one side or the other. Twenty-Four million dollars in gold was taken from the Discovery Claim.

Many were the hardships Joe saw in the winter of 98 - 99. Most of the miners subsisted on beans and dried potatoes. He saw the last egg in town sold to a miner/gambler for $300.00 in gold. One man bought a "squaw" for $109.00 - her weight in gold!

On the way out or into the Klondike Joe and his friends met a writer who was snow-blind. He lived with them for three days. His companion was a large English mastiff dog, which Joe fed for three days. Later they found out the man was Jack London, the famous author.

In 1900 when Joe left for home, having saved his money, he was better off than most. At Skagway, he and the others booked passage on a boat bound for Frisco, but for some reason they pulled into Los Angeles. They stayed three weeks in the area and he remembered real estate men showing him land in Santa Monica at $3.00 an acre. Probably this was at the edge of what is now Beverly Hills. Visiting in 1938 with Laura, Joe noted the increase in value. He remarked that he would have paid a lot of taxes on the land if he had bought it.

Returning to Minnesota he bought a farm, possibly outright with the money he had saved. Later he had a farm in Erhard, but spent his last years in Pelican Rapids. Near the end of World War II he worked for a time in Lynwood, California at Sammons and Sons. At that time he had to get a Social Security number... in his seventies, he had no need for it before.

In 1951 he made a trip to Alaska with a neighbor, driving a truck. He did not get to Dawson Creek as he had hoped. At that time he wrote Johns-Manville about the asbestos deposits he knew existed in that area, but they replied that it was not marketable at that time.

While living in Erhard, Joe was manager of the elevator and farmed there for 12 years. In 1921 he bought a farm in Robinson; North Dakota. While living there he served on the school board for eight years. In

He died in Jul 1950 in Malta, MT.

Notes for Robert Henry Sammons:

Robert Henry Sammons, second to the eldest, was also born in Wytheville, Virginia. A rancher-farmer, he remained a bachelor all his life. Called both Uncle Rob and Uncle Bob, he had a problem with asthma as long as we knew him. He was named for his father.

In 1898 he enlisted in the Army, which was involved in the Spanish-American war. He saw no active service, in fact, spent most of the time battling pneumonia in the hospital at Fort Snelling, Minnesota. On discharge he weighed only 80 pounds, not much for even one of small stature. The doctors told him to quit smoking or be dead in six months. Forty years later at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, he was told the same thing! His reply both times was to light a cigarette, shrug and walk out. At Rochester they also told him to never go near a wheat field or a barn, and take up all the wool carpets in his house. He really laughed at that since wheat was his business, being in the barn a daily occurrence, and there never were anything but linoleum rugs on the floors.

Although he and most of the others probably only had an early grade school education, he attended a college at Wilder, Minnesota one year. In the early 1900's he, Ed, and Bert lived near Dundee, Minnesota, near the Minnesota/Iowa line. Their sister, Lucy, kept house for them and they in turn were her chaperones at the country dances.

Both Bob and Joe traveled the breadth of America, being born in Virginia and going to Alaska. He rode the freights to Seattle as Bert and Jim did. In 1915 he homesteaded on "the bench" north of the Milk River near Loring, Montana and spent the rest of his life on the ranch. He was the manager and apparently was the leader in the affairs of the farm. At his death, he directed that Bert was to be cared for on the ranch as long as he lived, which Ione did.

In the early twenties, he and Bert came to Southern Minnesota often to help John's widow and acted as a father to her boys. The last time he came to Minnesota (to go to Mayo) he visited Cousins Ward Matthewson and me. We were both in the Twin Cities then. . I remember his wearing his buffalo skin coat and I was a little embarrassed, yet thrilled, to see him. I remember his sitting on the edge of a bed showing me how he could wrap both feet behind his head ... pretty agile for a man of 65!

Uncle Bob might be considered an eccentric and somewhat sharp-tongued at times. On one visit to JAS he asked Maudine what she was serving for dinner. She answered, "Roast beef and potatoes, etc." "How in ---- do you expect me to eat that? I haven't got any teeth!" "What would you eat if you were home?" asked Maude. "Bread and gravy", was his reply. "Here's the bread and gravy, go to it", she told him.

The date of birth may be March 6. Date of death may be 1951.

Notes for Edward Harlow Sammons:

Edward Harlow Sammons was the first child of John and Sarah's to be born in Iowa. Along with his brother Bob, he enlisted in the U.S. Army in 1898. It was probably after this experience that he apprenticed as a blacksmith in a Railroad shop in Iowa. He was advised by a supervisor to get out and start his own business. In 1900 he had a blacksmith shop in Dundee. He was also town marshal at that time. In that year he married Emma Josephine Roberts. The oldest four children were born in Minnesota.

Ed patented a "vermin proof roost" for chickens. It was quite easy to manufacture and he sold franchises for the roost in Southern Minnesota. He and Emma had honeymooned in Colorado and they went there to homestead in the eastern part of the state about 1908 or 1909. The land wasn't much more than desert, so he did blacksmithing in the nearby town of Hugo. After "proving up" on the land, they moved to Rocky Ford in the Arkansas Valley. Two more children were born in Colorado.

Although the land was better here, Ed didn't like farming or working for someone else, so for several years made signs and traveled as a salesman. Another blacksmith shop he had was in Limen, Colorado. He used to tell of a Model T Ford he had that they would drive down a hill and then have all the kids get out and help push it up the next.

Generation 7

Their next move was to Canyon, Texas and later to Witchita Falls, Texas. The final move was to Lynwood, California. Here he formed the Sammons and Sons business with his sons Ford, Burns and Ronald. It began as a blacksmith and welding shop. The business, still in operation is owned by J. Albert Sammons (John's son) with the principal business the manufacture of industrial racks. Fifty-two years of operating under the firm name of Sammons and Sons.

Ed enjoyed making signs all his life and several are still owned by members of the family. His work was his hobby, by today's standard he would be a work-aholic.

Abbie writes, "Mother did most of the raising of the children. But gardening was her love and partly a necessity with six children to feed. She fed us the way they advocate today; good nutrition, vegetables and milk and more chicken than red meat. She had flower gardens until her death. Dad didn't do much in the garden, but he like to pick a rose for his lapel on occasion."

He is buried in Sunnyside Center, Long Beach, California.

He died on Dec 18, 1981 in Fort Snelling National Cem., Minneapolis, MN. She married (2) James Raymond Grooms (16652) in 1977. He was born in 1912.

Notes for John Lemuel Sammons:

Named for two of Grandma's brothers, John Lemuel was born in Mason City, Iowa. A close friend, the editor of the local paper, wrote his obituary and I quote from it since I was only a small child when he died and feel this tells much of his story.

"The history of his childhood is doubtless like that of the average boy born of poor parents of that time. Certain it is that his education was sadly neglected because of the necessity of his assisting the father in making a living for himself and family of eleven children while moving from place to place in order to eventually find a good home. When he had passed twenty years of age he began to realize acutely that an education was an absolute necessity if he was to make a success of life and he applied himself to studying. It was then he ascertained that he had an aptitude for the law and began the study in St. Paul, Minnesota. His sister, Lucy, accompanied him and kept house for him. While attending law school he was stricken with inflammatory rheumatism which confined him to bed for a long time. The rheumatism brought on a slight paralysis of one arm. JAS (John Albert Sammons) also remembers that his hand was also somewhat crippled, as he held a pen in a peculiar fashion.

Like his brothers, who were farmers, he shared a love for the land and was an avid gardener. He tested seeds for the Henry Field Seed Co. raising plants in a "cold frame" in early spring when there was snow on the ground.

Westbrook in southwestern Minnesota was where he came to set up his law practice. He, Bert and Bob had stood in the oat fields the day the town was staked out in 1900. In those days he roomed at the Seely home. Mr. Seely was a Union veteran of the Civil War. The young lawyer took his meals at the local hotel and so did young teachers. Emma Englin had come to Westbrook to teach in the elementary grades and beginning Latin classes in the high school. She was recommended for the job because of her own good grades in high school and often said her Latin grades were our reason for being. After knowing each other for two years they were married at her sister's home in Park Falls, Wisconsin.

John was active in civic affairs of the small town and owned several pieces of property. He donated one lot for the Catholic Church and once traded a horse, one city lot and $100.00 for a 1912 Marathon car. I quote again from the obit "John was of a peculiar disposition and character. There were many who did not like his ways but could find no real fault with him. He was honest and aboveboard. Free to express himself on any subject regardless of whether his opinions differed with others. He was generous with advice which could generally be relied upon and never carried a grudge ... in short he was a man".

There were many bouts of poor Health, but he kept up his law practice as well as being first a rural mail carrier, then Postmaster. Woodrow Wilson signed his appointment. John had run for County Attorney at one time. John died in Rochester, Minnesota. He is buried in Westbrook, Minnesota.

In the years following his death, Emma had to sell most of the property for the raising of her three boys and one girl (this writer). She went back to teaching from 1926-30. She was then elected County Superintendent of Rural Schools and the family moved to the County Seat, Windom. She held this position twenty-four years.

Emma always kept in touch with John's family. Evah and Lucy wrote often, as well as lone when Grandma could not. Living close to Will, she and Annie were good friends and spent many Sundays together. Although I have no memory of him, I have keepsakes which he made during some of the long times he was bedridden... a satin purse covered with beads and melon seeds and two heavily embroidered table cloths.

Quoted from a newspaper article titled "Tracy Family Picks Up Old Life Torn by War".

John, who was inducted in July, 1940, died May 8, 1942, in a Japanese prison camp in Manila, Philippines.

Private First Class, Leslie, youngest son in service, now in Korea, wrote Mrs. Sammons that he had seen his oldest brother's grave, on Luzon, 40 miles out of Manila. Notes for Marvin Leon Sammons:

The following is paraphrased from a newspaper article. With the quote from Bill Bolin added by myself, John Henry Sammons on August 15, 1999.

Inducted into the service May 24, 1943, and given a 24-hour leave from Ft. Snelling to enjoy a family reunion at Currie over Sunday June 20 met a tragic death due to an accident at Lake Shetek State Park in Murray County, Minnesota.

Generation 7

Attending a picnic at the park, Private Marvin Sammons, with others was about to refresh himself in the cool waters of Lake Shetek. Making every minute count during his short leave ran down the park bathhouse steps and raced into the water taking a water-line dive. He hit a sharp rock beneath the water head-on, rendering him unconscious and causing wounds from which he died a few hours later. Examinations later showed that the force of the impact had burst open the head and laid the scalp open half way around the head. In addition to the serious scalp injury, he had suffered a concussion of the brain and a broken neck. He was paralyzed from the waist down and never regained consciousness.

Bill Bolin, a long time Tracy area resident and eventually a Tracy High School Teacher just a young boy at the time, saw it happened and said "three guys ran down to the water side by side. Marvin was in the middle. All three dived in and Marvin was the unlucky one to hit the rock. They were just to the left of the official swimming area."

Generation 7

3. In 1928 to 1934, at ages 47 to 53, he was a member of the Methodist Church in Currie, Minnesota.

William (Will) Claude Sammons was John Henry Sammons's grandfather.

The following is from "One Confederate Soldier" by Helen Dorothy Sammons (Chervenka Grooms)

Looking at a map of North Dakota and noting where some of the cousins were born, there is a possibility that Will and Evah's husbands were encouraged by the other brothers who had ridden the freights west to make their homesteads in Dakota. There must have also been a connection between Lucy's husband working on the railroad and their first home in Dakota. Will's homestead was near the present town of Newtown and the children born in Van Hook may have been born in the area now covered by the water of the Missouri River. There is a Van Hook Arm of Lake Sakakawea, which is the widening of the Missouri above the Garrison Dam.

William Claude was named for one of Grandma's brothers. His wife Anna (Annie) came as an immigrant girl of sixteen from Norway. A cousin paid her passage and in turn she had to work for him for a year. She spoke no English when Will met her. She had come from an impoverished home where she had done all the work in cooking and washing for her five brothers and father.

Probably their first home was a sod hut on the homestead claim. In 1921 John visited them on a trip he made to visit the folks in Montana. He suggested to Will that he come to Minnesota with his family and farm the land he had in Murray County. They had eight children at that time.

Will is remembered as being jovial and full of fun, sometimes at the expense of others. The boys remember that he would pick up a garter snake and throw it so that while other dads might buy worth". Once he bought an He was especially generous it would wrap around their bare legs! He would often bring a big bag of candy home for the youngsters, while other dads might buy a nickel bag, he would say, "Give me a dollar's worth". Once he bought an old touring car body for the kids to play in. He was especially generous with his time to the neighbors and they could count on his help if they needed it.

Annie and the neighbors always called him Bill, but we said Uncle Will. He was blind in one eye; he used to say if we met a car with one light... "One eyed Riley, like your old Uncle Ike". When we visited it made the family so large we ate in shifts, with Aunt Annie waiting until everyone was through and eating by herself in the kitchen just in time to start the next meal. She baked bread every other day, enough loaves to cover the large round table. Will kept bees and a cake of honey would just last a meal. Seven more children were born while they lived on the farm in Holly Township, making a total of fifteen, with one child dying in infancy.

Will had a small repair shop on the farm that he called a blacksmith shop. Ed said that Will had worked at the trade when he was young. Together they had a small blacksmith shop in Dundee. The family lived on three other places in Minnesota before his early death following surgery. Annie, a widow now, still had nine children in grade school.

Notes for Bert Douglas Sammons:

Living for nearly a century, Bert Douglas, a life-long bachelor, was the sixth son of John and Sarah. He too, was a rancher-farmer living fifty-nine of those years on the home place in Montana. He dearly loved children and always seemed to have candy on hand for any of them. For himself there was nothing better than a good chew, a fact which sorely tried lone, who took care of him for so many years. His memory remained keen all his life and many were the tales he told of the early years in the family.

Practical jokes were often played among the brothers and Bert told of one that really tickled this author. As a young man the main entertainment was dancing in the homes of farmers living close to each other. It seemed that he and the other young bachelors often got "stuck" with paying the musicians and buying the beer, while the married folks hurried home after a dance. Couples would bring all their children along and as little ones got tired they fell asleep anywhere. Tiny babies were often put in the middle of a bed with coats and pillows around so that they wouldn't roll off the bed. One night Bert and the others went into a bedroom and exchanged the clothes of four small babies. In a hurry to leave, the parents picked up the baby dressed as their own and went home. He said they lived close and had telephones, so about midnight they began to realize the trick and soon got their own babies back. They did get the message from the bachelors, and at the next dance the married men shared in the expenses.

Prior to 1910 Bert and some of the brothers rode the freight train to Seattle and back. On one trip, Jim, about 16, came down with diptheria, a prevalent, contagious, often fatal disease. They got off the train in a small town in Washington and Bert, about 26, nursed him. The illness caused a membrane to cover the back of the throat and it had to be wiped away frequently or the person would die. The fever was high and Jim was often out of his head. The authorities put him in a "pest house" expecting him to die. No one came near him except Bert. As he began to get better, Bert got a job in a Hotel waiting tables, hiding the fact that his brother lay ill. In fact he threatened another employee who knew, that if he exposed him he would "do serious bodily harm"! I believe gun might have been mentioned. What love for his brother he had and surely Jim was always grateful to him.

After they homesteaded in 1915, Bert made many trips riding in stock trains. He would ride in the caboose and assist the train crew as they made the frequent stops to water the stock. This would mean unloading the stock after the train pulled up on a siding, and getting them all back in the cars again. There must have been feeding to do too. Trips were made to Portland, So. St. Paul, Chicago. On the trips to Minnesota he would make a visit to those of us in that area.

At age 85, Bert traveled by bus to Washington to visit cousin Bill, then on to California to visit Lucy and his nephews. All this was done without advance notice. In Lynwood there was a large family gathering for his birthday. The next year he went east to Washington D.C. Here he accompanied Bob's young boys to the World's Fair in New York. On his return he stopped in Minnesota where another family gathering was held in Tracy. He was thrilled to see corn and soybeans growing as he had not seen for fifty years. He visited a man in Westbrook and when he walked into the yard., Mr. Hopkins said, "Well, Bert Sammons" and what a visit they had recalling the old days,

When he had left home, Jim had said to him, "What if you get sick and die on the trip, and his reply was, "Hell, Jim, I wouldn't be any deader than here in Montana".

Bert never learned to drive a car, but on occasion drove a Farmall (small tractor) which he called "the little engine" all the way to Malta, a distance of thirty-eight miles, to plow Al's garden, when he was in his eighties. Alfred made canes of diamond willow and Bert walked with the aid of one for the last twenty years of his life. He would always climb over a fence rather than open a gate. He claimed to have very poor eyesight (he had unsuccessful cataract surgery on one eye) but he never seemed to have any trouble finding lone's "razzberries". One of his prize possessions was a large rock that had been turned up with a plow. He thought it of some special importance because of the strange lines which seemed carved into it ... either by Indians or some prehistoric means.

In the twenties both Bert and Bob came often to southern Minnesota and they always arrived with a big sack of groceries, with celery and grapefruit and oranges...items not on our diet. One year when Bert came at Thanksgiving (1928) he bought a-turkey, which we fattened up all month with corn and had our FIRST taste of such a delicacy. The visits long enough so that many odd jobs were done that took a man's doing. One of my earliest memories is sitting on their lap (whichever one was there) and having my cheek rubbed with prickly whiskers and their sayin-, "Want to feel my whiskers tick?" At the table Uncle Bert on passing something would say, ",-Do you want some, Peaches?" or "Want some, Honey?", which pleased this little seven year old who didn't hear those words from anyone else.

Uncle Bert must have had a great sense of responsibility toward his brothers and their families, as noted in Jim's illness. He made visits to our family (John's) and Will's in 1923, 24, 25, 26, 27, and 28.

In addition to helping out with groceries and the work of a handy man, he "joshed" us a lot, making up western names for us. J.A.S. remembers being "Red Mike from the Gulch". Mine was "White Mud Annie". His favorite author (and Bob's too) was Zane Grey, whose books he read and re-read. It was said if a Sammons was reading, he wouldn't even hear the call to supper.

Another tale Bert told, was that as a young boy another boy had shot him, with the bullet going through his thigh. So that he would not tell anyone, the other boy paid him the huge sum of thirty-five cents. They poured kerosene (!) on it to clean it and Grandpa and Grandma never knew. He carried the scar always.

He is buried in Malta, Montana. One source said he died in October of 1974.

13228. Garnett Lyle Fielder (27986) was born in 1918. He married Mildred Eileen Weninger (19691) in 1948. She was born in 1930.

Notes for Evah Magdalene Sammons:

Evah Magdalene was named for Grandma's mother and also, according to Bert, for the daughter of John Glass. He was the richest man in Mason City when the family lived there. She and Marion Fielder were married in Minnesota, where the first of their children was born. They moved to North Dakota to homestead near some of the rest of the family and Ione and Marion Earl were born there. In 1912 they made their last move to Spalding, Saskatchewan, Canada to homestead again and live out their lives in the "bush country". The younger three were born in Spalding.

Evah was a beautiful, hardy, homesteader who saw beauty in all of life. She had a keen sense of humor and taught her children songs, poems and wonderful precepts to live by. She kept diaries over many years on the farm and although they tell of the hardships of weather, work and worry, they show how she saw the loveliness of our earth even in a day when it was forty below zero and wind whipped the snow about.

In 1913 when a bush fire was raging, Marion and other neighbors left to fight the fire. Fearing for their lives, Evah took the children to the slough. The smaller ones were put into a barrel and the top covered with wet sacks. By morning the fire had been put out and their home and lives saved.

Evah was a midwife much of the time they lived on the farm. She was highly respected in the community. Active in hospital work, she was instrumental in bringing the first hospital to Spalding, Marion served as a municipal councilor for eighteen years.

It is often heard how "I walked two miles to school" is used to impress a younger generation, but Evah's children really did walk that far through the brush. On their first day of school in Canada, Marion walked with them tying yellow rags to the trees to make a path for them to follow home.

A highlight of Evah's life was a trip she and lone made to California in 1961. Will's son, Pete, and his wife drove through Loring and asked Evah if she'd like to go to visit Lucy, living in California by then. So as her brothers before her, she made a trip to the West.

Garnett told that Evah would walk three miles before breakfast, to get cows and milk them before getting the meal. She was the one who held the family together ... "Dad was the disciplinarian and Mother gave us love", he said.

Garnett's oldest son, Rodney is the third generation on the Marion Fielder homestead. In Canada to obtain a homestead persons had to break the sod and reside on the one hundred and sixty acre place for six months.

lone tells that on the day she was born, her mother rode on a stone boat with Marion driving one horse, into Plaza, No. Dakota.

A stone boat was a rough conveyance consisting of two poles, sharpened at one end, with boards nailed across them to make a sort of sled. It had no wheels and was used about the farm to haul stone or any heavy object. Evah had one dollar to spend and she bought "toys for Maud Clayton and Charlotte and Robert, red handkerchiefs for Uncle Guy and Dad, white hanky for Aunt Cora and raisins for a Christmas cake. Couldn't do that for $1.00 today, eh?", writes lone.

In 1983, the descendants, in-laws and other relatives, numbering eighty-five held a reunion in Spalding. Much information was gathered at that time for this history.

Notes for Lucy Virginia Sammons:

Lucy is buried in Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

The following is from "One Confederate Soldier by Helen Dorothy Sammons (Cervenka Grooms)

Bert told us that Lucy was "born in the woods the night before Thanksgiving near Mason City and named for the sisters of Paw and Maw". She was a darling with an effervescent, sparkling, beautiful personality. - She had the Sammons' tight curly hair and loved to be dressed in the height of fashion.

In the early years she told of helping her brothers to herd cattle on the Iowa prairie. For this, Grandpa was paid FIVE CENTS A DAY! (In the 1920's forty years later, J.A.S. herded them two hours a day after school and was paid five cents an hour -- and he got the money.)

As a young girl, Lucy kept house for her brothers in Dundee and when John went to school in St. Paul she went with him. There she kept house for him and attended High School.

Her husband, Burns Matthewson worked for the railroad, as a brakeman / conductor. Left a widow after twenty years, Lucy was a supportive mother both financially and psychologically. During WWII she moved to Washington and worked at Boeing Aircraft Co. At the time she was hired, she thought she was too old to get a job and she gave her-age as much less than it was. Her appearance did nothing to cause suspicion, as she looked so young. In 1950 when she thought she was 65 and eligible for Social Security, she wrote for her birth certificate or census record and found out she was 66 ... she had even fooled herself!

She had always said she would not marry again, until all her children were married. Donnie married in 1951 and so she married her long time friend, Jim O'Dell. They enjoyed twelve years together, living in Aptos, California.

Living in California, she became very close to her nephews in that area. She enjoyed Christmases with them and other times of visiting. She could recite poetry hour after hour. This was an ability of most all of her generation. With no radio or TV an evening's entertainment was within one's own family circle, and so the learning of stories and poems was the accepted thing to do. She had a keen sense of humor and loved practical jokes. One Halloween, when she was a guest at one home, she slipped outside, put teeth cut from the orange peel in her mouth, a shawl over her head and shoulders, then came to the front door. She used a heavy Norwegian brogue and had everyone in the place fooled for some time.

He may have been born in Cerro Gordo County or Roadman, Iowa. May be buried in Flathead Lake or Billings, Montana.

James Raymond, the seventh son of John and Sarah, was named according to Uncle Bert, for Mary Vance's boyfriend. Maybe someone knows who Mary Vance was?! A story of his illness as a young man is told in Bert's story. Jim, as he was always called was outgoing, a good story=teller; confident of his ability in whatever he did. A "typical salesman" exuding that confidence he is described by his nephew.

With his brothers and parents, he also homesteaded in Montana and his homestead "shack" was on the home place for many years. It was hard to believe a family of four could live very well in such a small building.

Generation 7

In 1931 Jim was a Ranger in Glacier National Park in Montana. These were depression years and during that time he also worked as a Railroad detective on the Great Northern Railroad. The common name given to the men who did this was Railroad Bull. He had to be pretty tough to go through the freight cars and "shake them down". The vagrants or hoboes were hungry and not easy to deal with. The story has it that he once took a man out of a car that was wanted for murder, going in after him not knowing whether the man was armed or not. Several in our family "rode the rods" or "hopped freights" to look for jobs during those hard days.

In the early thirties he began selling fire extinguishers for the Fyr Fiter Company. Without a car to get around, he walked the streets to contact people. The family had been living in Glasgow, Montana for some years, but he moved them to Billings and began many years of successful selling with this company. He was representative of the company in all of Montana and parts of So. Dakota, Wyoming, and Idaho. He really "knew the territory".

Jim and Mabel built a summer home at Flathead Lake., a far cry from the homestead shack, sometime in the 1950's. He turned his business over to his sons and after retirement they did quite a lot of traveling. Often their destination was California to see their children living there. They had visited Ed there for the first time in 1937.

Jim was an avid outdoorsman and especially loved the elk hunting with his sons.

He is buried in Chateau, Montana.

Alfred Zachariah, named for his paternal grandfather, was the last child born to John and Sarah. He saw service in the Army in World War I. He was a rancher-farmer in Montana for most of his life, living near his parents and brothers.

It seemed to everyone that he would remain a bachelor like Bert and Bob, but in 1928 he married his dear wife Freda. After they retired from the farm, they moved into Malta. There they had a big garden which he enjoyed. He even did canning in the years he was alone.

He was helping out on his daughter's farm and was alone at the time and caught his mitt in a grain auger. Due to this accident he lost his right hand.

J.A.S. recalls that he was a great story-teller. He said that once he rode with Al (as everyone called him) for at least two days and that Al told stories the whole time without repeating any.
